DURHAM, NH - Democrat Helena Foulkes leads Independent Ken Block and Republican Aaron Guckian in the race for Rhode Island governor. In the lieutenant governor race, Democratic incumbent Sabina Matos leads Republican John Loughlin, though Matos is not particularly popular and many of her supporters say their vote for her is mainly because she is a Democrat. In the race for U.S. Senate, incumbent Democrat Jack Reed comfortably leads Republican Raymond McKay. Affordability or inflation and economic health or financial security are the most important issues in the election to likely voters.

2026 Rhode Island Gubernatorial Election

Democratic nominee Helena Foulkes is comfortably ahead in the race for governor of Rhode Island. Including those leaning towards a candidate, 55% of likely voters say they will or have voted for Foulkes, 34% say they will or have voted for Independent Ken Block, 8% will or have voted for Republican Aaron Guckian, 1% each support Independents Jasjit Gotra or CD Reynolds, less than 1% support another candidate, and 2% are undecided. In September, 44% supported Foulkes, 25% supported Block, and 17% supported Guckian. Eighty-nine percent of Democrats support Foulkes, while among Republicans, 73% support Block and only 22% support Guckian. Just over half of Independents (52%) support Foulkes, while 41% support Block and only 4% support Guckian.

Thirty-six percent of likely voters have a favorable opinion of Foulkes, 38% have an unfavorable opinion, and 24% are neutral, yielding a net favorability rating (the percentage who have a favorable opinion minus the percentage who have an unfavorable opinion) among likely voters of -2, up from -13 in September. Block has similar popularity: 34% have a favorable opinion of Block, 35% have an unfavorable opinion, 21% are neutral, and 10% don't know enough about him to say, yielding a net favorability rating of -1, down from +12 in September. Guckian is quite unpopular with a net favorability rating of -46, while most likely voters don't know enough to have an opinion on Gotra (81%) and Reynolds (79%).

Ocean State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest Ocean State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Ocean State Panel members were sent an invitation to complete the survey and 708 completed the survey online, yielding a response rate of 34%. In addition, 96 Rhode Island residents completed the survey after receiving an invitation via text message to complete the survey. Overall, 804 Rhode Island residents completed the survey online between October 27 and October 31, 2026. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 3.5 percent. Included in the sample were 753 likely general election voters (margin of sampling error +/- 3.6 percent). In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response. These MSE's have not been adjusted for design effect. The design effect for the survey is 2.5%.

The Ocean State Panel is a probability-based web panel of Rhode Island residents. Approximately 2,500 Rhode Island adults have been recruited from phone, text-to-web, or mail-to-web surveys sent to randomly-selected phone numbers or addresses. Panelists are then asked to participate in online surveys sponsored by the UNH Survey Center.

Data were weighted by respondent sex, age, education, and region of the state to targets from the most recent American Community Survey (ACS) conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau, as well as party registration levels provided by the RI Secretary of State and to 2024 election results in Rhode Island. Surveys were taken in English, all respondent data included passes Qualtrics data quality checks, and single-use survey links were used to prevent multiple submissions by respondents.

The number of respondents in each demographic below may not equal the number reported in cross-tabulation tables as some respondents choose not to answer some questions. Due to rounding, percentages may not sum to 100%. All coding of open-ended responses is conducted using AI coding software.
